

Textbooks	For:	Pro	Cons	You need to know:
Learning Ally (Formerly RFB&D)	Entire textbooks	Free! Real human voice, Model of fluency and reading speed, free daisy player or you can use windows media player, can play files on specific mp3 players, free at home. iPad app for $20	No text only audio, you may need text support	Software must be downloaded and installed. You must be able to download book files. You have to have an internet connection to RFB&D while you listen to your book (unless you have a CD). You must have a Daisy player or the latest version of Windows media player. http://www.learningally.org/
Bookshare	Entire textbooks	Free! Free players that highlight text as a digital voice reads to students. Does not require internet while listening to book. Free home use.	Computerized voice	Software must be downloaded and installed. You must be able to download book files. iPad app is coming. http://www.bookshare.org/
Publishing Companies	Entire textbooks	Can be interactive online components	Not always available or you may have to pay for access.	It is easier to negotiate with them at the time of purchase. Ask about accessibility before you buy!!!
Optical Character Recognition (OCR) (scanning books)	Parts of textbooks	Quick access without the need for membership or internet.	You must have a scanner and OCR software. Scanning one page at a time can take a long time.	Free OCR software is available or you can purchase software. Free reading software is available or you can purchase software. It may help to copy in a copy machine first. http://www.paperfile.net/

Create your own audio book	Parts of textbooks (maybe if you have really nice volunteers a whole textbook)	No need for membership or internet. Can play files on Mp3 player.	Time consuming	You will need a digital recorder and player.
Don Johnston Start to Finish Books	Supplemental non-fiction materials	Provides both human voice audio and text highlighting	Books are expensive	A few titles are available through the SWAAAC loan bank. http://www.donjohnston.com/products/start_to_finish/library/index.html